

Purpose:

- ◆ Task Force Sisterhood Against Sexual Assault (TF SASA) believes that improving confidence and developing life skills through education and camaraderie creates a positive change in attitude and behavior is a different approach to preventing sexual assault and harassment.
- ◆ TF SASA addresses issues head on as senior military women speakers educate, empower and inspire women through information sharing of their own personal sexual assaults and harassments encounters and military and life experiences.
- ◆ TF SASA acknowledges the differences between the genders, and communicates appropriate behaviors while targeting personal growth, emphasizing Dignity and Respect.
- ◆ This program is open to all females, topics are heavily weighted on communicating to women. Limited male attendance and participation is encouraged as it allows them to hear firsthand the struggles and experiences from a female perspective.

Program Overview:

TF SASA is a different approach to the normal training of "No means No"; a message geared toward men. TF SASA focuses on teaching women to identify signs and avoid situations where they will not have to say "No".

- ◆ The general concept of the program is to have a one day "Find Your Voice" seminar, followed by monthly workshops
- ◆ TF SASA address issues head on and permits the senior women speakers -to talk candidly about certain issues without the influence of being "politically" correct. --Sub conscientiously setting the conditions, low self-esteem, and "We are our own worst enemy" are core issues that are recognized, but never discussed.
- ◆ TF SASA includes the "male perspective" that facilitates the difference on communication between genders.
- ◆ Over 100 years of military experience from Female leaders.

Benefit to the Command: READINESS

- ◆ This program attempts to bring these issues out into the open in a non- hostile environment while providing education by female Soldiers, with a variety backgrounds and experiences. In this forum, female leaders are able to gather information from the younger female Soldiers that could be shared and beneficial for Commanders.
- ◆ This program is driven by Soldiers for Soldiers outside of the chain of command, allowing Soldiers to make connection and open up without fear of reprisal.
- ◆ Avoids the cliché "familiarity breeds content". Because TF SASA is not part of the Soldier's command, we are not discredited as their leader for exposing past mistakes or situations.

A Testimony that sums SASA up.

Thank you so much for everything you are doing with this conference. I think it's not only an important cause, but essential for the well-being of women in the military. I found your conference to be both informative and inspiring. To see so many successful, wonderful women stand up and share very personal encounters was eye-opening. I never realized how many women endure the same struggle in the military. I think this program has the potential to change the way women are viewed in the military and more importantly, how women view themselves. "Finding your voice" is a fantastic slogan for what you are doing - it empowers women to make their own decisions and do the right thing. The diversity in the group is also a great thing - I felt like any female in the audience could relate to at least one woman in the conference. I would love to help spread the word and would be happy to continue to market this cause. All in all, FANTASTIC! Thank you for tapping into something that most military groups are afraid to address in such an aggressive manner.

Thank you! PFC Jennifer Brady, IMET
